

- (rack open) dogged & plot its distribution

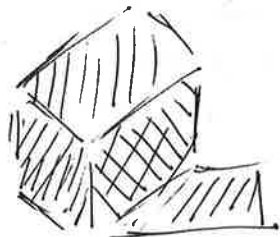

2 (surprisingly, it is normal. It seems to want a μ right at $q-q$. So, dog - μ - feel.

Moreover, σ wants to trap dog & feel in the same sized boxes. Hence,

⇒ How would one (or few more than one) plot a feelings bank. Where I place my anger so it gathers interest wondering if it will be invested away before I can withdraw. I imagine dark bullet nests protect the bank from swine. Friend wants a free pass to see the vault because that's the measure of a person or their ———. But the inner constitution needs to make a joint clause where my subconscious signs with an intent-print. A black hole might be a safer place to hide those. Or a black box which they tell me Math can open.

→ Or maybe they're not ready for the glare of your grit.
